LỜI NÓI ĐẦU

Để giúp các em học sinh có thêm tư liệu học tốt môn tiếng Anh ngay từ bậc THCS, chúng tôi tổ chức biên soạn cuốn sách “Bồi dưỡng tiếng Anh lớp 8”. Cuốn sách được biên soạn dựa vào nội dung của 16 đơn vị bài học trong sách giáo khoa và được chia làm 2 phần chính:

Phần I - NGỮ PHÁP VÀ CÁC BÀI TẬP ỨNG DỤNG

Phần này không chỉ ôn lại những nội dung ngữ pháp cơ bản xuất hiện trong sách giáo khoa mà còn có phần nâng cao giúp học sinh tiếp cận với nhiều cách diễn đạt khác nhau. Ngoài ra, sau mỗi phần ngữ pháp của từng đơn vị bài (Unit) còn có các bài tập ứng dụng cho phần ngữ pháp đó.

Phần II - GIỚI THIỆU MỘT SỐ BÀI KIỂM TRA TỔNG HỢP

Phần này giúp học sinh tự đánh giá kiến thức của mình thông qua 10 bài kiểm tra trắc nghiệm và tự luận tổng hợp.

Phần III - ĐÁP ÁN VÀ HƯỚNG DẪN TRẢ LỜI

Phần này sẽ cung cấp tất cả các đáp án của từng bài tập trong phần I và phần II một cách đầy đủ và chi tiết.

Nhóm tác giả hi vọng rằng “Bồi dưỡng tiếng Anh lớp 8” sẽ đem lại những hiệu quả thiết thực cho học sinh cũng như các giáo viên trong quá trình học tập và giảng dạy. Chúng tôi cũng mong muốn nhận được những ý kiến góp ý của quý độc giả để nội dung của cuốn sách ngày càng hoàn thiện hơn.

you ----> you/ he/ she

S + have/ has + already + past participle

A: Do you want something to eat? (Bạn muốn ăn gì không?)

Ví dụ:

+ I have mended my car. (Tôi đã tự sửa xe của tôi.)

→ I have had my car mended. (Tôi đi sửa xe.)

+ Mary is going to cut her hair. (Mary định tự cắt tóc.)

Hoặc:

$S2 + to\ be + past\ participle + \begin{cases} infinitive \\ to\ have + past\ participle \end{cases}$

Ví dụ:

+ People think that Mary is a good singer. (Mọi người nghĩ rằng Mary là ca sĩ có giọng hát hay.)

It is estimated that a child in the United States watches about 4,000 hours of television before he begins school. If he's four years old when his schooling begins, he's about 35,040 hours old. He's spent roughly an eighth of his life watching TV! Most experts agree that is simply too much. But good television is important. It can spark a child's curiosity and may open up new worlds. It's an important learning tool when used properly. Monitoring what your child watches and how much time he spends at it will enable you to make appropriate use of television. It will give the child a healthy perspective about TV and help him to have a constructive relationship with it. Many students want to find friends on the Internet as a way of practicing their language skills and learning more about new cultures. Traditional pen pals were the primary source for such contacts, and students could write each other letters. With the Internet, finding friends has become much easier, and such relationship is called key pals.

However, care and consideration should be given when finding friends on the Internet:

- Search the Internet for reputable services. Look for reviews of such sites to learn more about other students' experiences. Don't join a service until you have done your research.
- Check to see if you can use a nickname, rather than your real name, to protect your identity.
- Never give personal information to anyone, including your home address, phone number, and birthday.
- Stop contact with others if you feel uncomfortable with the topics of conversation. Again, if you protect your identity, this will be easier to do. Tell your teachers, parents, or even local law enforcement if problems arise.
- Try to use the language you are studying in the classroom in your communications with others. Ask appropriate questions that will also help you learn about other cultures. Remember that one's personal experience might be just that: To understand a whole culture, you have to talk to many people, but this will get you started.

III - READING

1. Read the passage and choose the best answer A, B, C or D.

Food is a store of chemical energy. If you look on the side of food packets you will see the food's energy content. This is usually measured in kilojoules, kJ. If we eat too little food, we will use up our store of fat and become too thin. If we eat too much food, especially foods rich in sugar and fat, we will increase our store of fat and become too fat.

So it is important to balance the amount of food we eat with who we are and what we do. The amount of energy we need from our food depends on our age, our height and how much exercise we get. For example, a one-year old baby needs 3850 kJ each day to continue to grow, whereas an adult Olympic swimmer in training needs 15,600 kJ each day. Someone who sits at a desk all day will need less food than their twin who climbs ladders all day to wash windows.

2. Read the passage carefully and answer the following questions.

Colds and flu are caused by viruses. The infections are contagious, passed on by tiny droplets and hand contact.

There are hundreds of different types of virus that can cause a cold, which explains why children get repeated colds. Flu is caused by the influenza virus. There are three major types: A (often the cause of flu epidemics), B and C. The flu virus is constantly changing its structure, so new strains appear each year.

We don't have immunity to the new strains, which is why we can catch flu repeatedly. Anyone can catch a cold or flu. The peak season for colds is the colder winter months, not only because of the weather but because central heating dries out the normally moist nasal mucosa - an important defense against invading viruses.

However, you can catch a cold at any time of the year; one particular type of cold virus thrives in the summer. Flu rarely occurs outside November to February in the UK.

A cold causes a stuffy or runny nose, sneezing, sore throat, cough, mild fever and tiredness, lasting two to four days.

Flu is more severe with a high fever (usually 39°C or above), chills, headache, intense muscle pains, exhaustion, loss of appetite, cough and sometimes a blocked nose and sore throat. It may last a week or more and possible complications include pneumonia.

Most colds don't last long and need no specific treatment other than painkillers and simple measures such as decongestant rubs or vaporizers. Antibiotics are of no benefit. Zinc supplements may help to settle a cold more quickly.

Children with flu can be given similar treatments, with lots of rest, medicine to bring down any fever and plenty of fluids to avoid dehydration. Lowering the temperature in the room can also be helpful when someone has a fever. Specific antiviral treatments for flu are now available, but generally these are only given to those at high risk of flu complications.

31. What are colds and flu caused by?

III - READING

1. Read the passage and choose the best answer A, B, C or D.

A cat is one of the strangest creatures on earth. Even though it has lived with man for thousands and thousands of years-it always seems to be just one step removed from the jungle!

A cat is closely related to such animals as the lion, tiger, and leopard, and in its own way it behaves like them. For instance, cats lie in wait for their victims, and then spring on their back, just the way a lion might kill an enemy.

A cat can make a tremendous leap in the air, as much as seven feet straight up. A cat has padded feet so that it can stalk its prey in absolute silence. It has 18 claws on its feet that it can pull out and draw back again.

What makes a cat able to see in the dark? It has eyes that can adjust themselves to different amounts of light. When there's a bright light, the pupils of the eyes become narrow slits. When it's dark, the pupils become wide, almost the size of the entire eye. This does not mean that a cat can see in the absolute darkness, but it needs much less light than most animals. Because a cat eyes round out from the head, it collects light from a wide angle. When a cat's eye reflects all this light, it seems to glow.

Cats may live to be 19 or 20 years of age, but the average age is 14 years.

26. Which of the following is not true according to the passage?

- A. A cat is one of the strangest creatures on earth.
- B. A cat is the smallest animal in the world.
- C. A cat can see in the dark.
- D. A cat has lived with man for thousands and thousands of years.

- A. dog, lion, horse, tiger and other animals
- B. bird, ox, elephant, tiger and other animals
- C. lion, tiger, and leopard, and in its own way it behaves like them
- D. only tiger and lion

28. How many claws does a cat have on its feet?

- A. 8 B. 18 C. many D. 20

29. Why can a cat see in the dark?

- A. Because it has four eyes.
B. Because it is closely related to such animals as the lion, tiger, and leopard.
C. Because its eyes are big.
D. Because it has eyes that can adjust themselves to different amounts of light.

30. Which of the following is not true according to the passage?

- A. When it's dark, the pupils of the cat eyes become wide.
B. A cat needs much less light than most animals.
C. The average age of a cat is 14 years.

2. Read the passage carefully and decide whether the statements are true (T) or false (F), or no information (No).

The 1st of April is celebrated as the April Fools Day. Most of the countries consider it to be a national holiday. On this day, hoaxes and practical jokes of a great variety are cracked among friends and neighbors. People also send their close relatives fools' errands and make them the butts of ridicule. The April Fools Day is now celebrated across the net too.

There is no initial date to be regarded as the first April Fools Day. The closest possible date that can mark the beginning of this celebration can be 1582, in France. It is a custom that probably developed in different countries at the same time. The April Fools Day is primarily the day when people celebrate the arrival of spring.

Prior to the year 1582, the New Year was celebrated for long eight days, beginning from March 25th and ended in April 1st. During the Georgian rule, a new calendar was introduced, where the New Year was marked to be on 1st January. But an inflexible sect continued to celebrate the New Year on 1st of April itself. The local populace called this backward class the 'fools'. They were often subjected to ridicule and fools' errands.

Pranks and jokes cracked during the April Fools Day range from small to elaborate ones. Some practical jokes are kept up the whole day before the victim realizes what day it is. Whatever the prank is, the charlatan ends the game by crying 'April Fool' and bursts forth in laughter.

Celebrations of the April Fools Day is all about enjoying unlimited fun and turning a friend the prey of your prank.

III – READING

1. Read the passage and choose the best answer A, B, C or D.

Every second, around the world, four people are born and two people die. This means that over a year, the world's population increases by about 70 millions people. In some of the richest countries of the world, population growth is slow. Elsewhere – especially in the poorer countries of Asia, Africa, and South America – the population is growing rapidly. Cities in such regions are growing fastest, and several now have populations of over 10 millions people. When it comes to providing employment, housing, education and health care, such rapid growth rates can strain resources to the limit.

As the world's population continues to rise, more people are chasing fewer natural resources. Only a small proportion of the Earth's land is suitable for growing food, while in some areas fresh water for drinking, cooking, and irrigating crop is scarce. Fossil fuels, such as oil and natural gas, will soon be in short supply. Unless people begin to conserve energy or develop alternatives, such as solar power.

WOLVES 2

Wolves are the largest members of the wild dog family. Although they are not known to attack humans, they are often feared and hated.

Aside from humans, wolves are the most socially advanced mammals on Earth. They live together in packs of up to 30 members. Only the dominant male and female are allowed to mate. This ensures that the pack's population does not outgrow its habitat.

Wolves are a good example of animal communication. They speak to each other with highly developed body signals and a variety of howls. Although they howl for many reasons, it is usually to locate each other or to establish territory.

Wolves often hunt together with other pack members. They can reach speeds of up to 18 kilometers per hour, and can run all night long in search of prey.

Wolves usually catch only one-tenth of the animals they chase. Since they usually kill old or sick animals, wolves help keep game species healthy. When game populations drop, the number of wolves also decreases. Wolves sometimes go hungry for two or more weeks, especially during winter when game is scarce.

Although farmers often shoot wolves, their livestock is usually not at risk. Wolves fear humans and prefer to stay within their territories. They rarely venture farther unless their habitat has been reduced or destroyed by humans.

Hello, everyone. Have you ever wondered what the weather is like in other places around the world? Today, I'd like to talk to you about the changing seasons in my city.

First of all, the winter season usually begins in December and ends in early March. The coldest month is January, and temperatures can drop below freezing for most of this month. The city usually averages about 30 inches of snow during this entire, 3-month period. Occasionally, we have snow storms that can drop a foot of snow in a very short period of time. Winter activities during this season include sledding, skiing, and snowshoeing.

Spring usually arrives in late March, and the temperatures hover around 50 degrees during the day. It is a beautiful season because the flowers start to bloom. It is sometimes windy, and this is great for flying kites. People in my city often like to go on picnics, stroll through parks, and play outdoor games.

Next, summer starts in June, as temperatures slowly rise to around 80 degrees. The summer in my city is very dry with little rain throughout the season, and temperatures can soar above 100 degrees in August. Fortunately, the weather is very dry with low humidity, so it is really pleasant even on hot days. Popular activities during this season include hiking, fishing, camping, water skiing, and outdoor sports such as football.

And finally, summer changes to fall in late September when the weather cools off, and the trees begin to change colors. A lot of people enjoy driving into the mountains and viewing the fall colors. It is also a time when people clean up their yards and gardens in preparation for the winter season.
